1. NAMES and IDENTIFICATION
   a) Preferred name of language for code element denotation:
      Rakhine
   b) Autonym (self-name) for this language:
      Rakhine
   c) Common alternate names and spellings of language, and any established abbreviations:
      Rakhain, Rakkhaine, Mogh
   d) Reason for preferred name:
      The term "Mogh" has a negative connotation as it has historically been associated with plundering pirates. "Rakhine" is the accepted spelling in Myanmar.
   e) Name and approximate population of ethnic group or community who use this language (complete individual language currently in use):
      Rakhine leaders report that there are about 35,000-50,000 Rakhine in Bangladesh, though the 1991 government census reports only 16,932.
   f) Preferred three letter identifier, if available:

Your suggestion will be taken into account, but the Registration Authority will determine the identifier to be proposed. The identifiers is not intended to be an abbreviation for a name of the language, but to serve as a device to identify a given language uniquely. With thousands of languages, many sets of which have similar names, it is not possible to provide identifiers that resemble a language name in every case.

2. TEMPORAL DESCRIPTION and LOCATION
   a) Is this a ☒ Living language
      ☐ Nearly extinct/secondary use only (includes languages in revival)
      ☐ Recently extinct language

For individual languages, also complete:

b) Countries where used:
   Bangladesh, Myanmar

c) Region within each country: towns, districts, states or provinces where used. Include GPS coordinates of the approximate center of the language, if possible:
   Cox’s Bazaar, Patuakhali, and Barguna districts in Bangladesh; Rakhine (Arakan) state in Myanmar

d) For an ancient or historical language, give approximate time frame; for a recently extinct language, give the approximate date of the last known user’s death

3. MODALITY AND LINGUISTIC AFFILIATION

a) This language is: [ ] Signed [ ] Spoken [ ] Attested only in writings

b) Language family, if classified; origin, if artificially constructed:
   Sino-Tibetan, Tibeto-Burman, Lolo-Burmese, Burmish, Southern

c) Closest language linguistically. For a Macrolanguage, list the individual languages (adopted and/or proposed) to be included in its group. For signed language, note influence from other signed or spoken languages:
   possibly Marma

4. LANGUAGE DEVELOPMENT AND USE

a) What written literature, inscriptions or recordings exist in this language? Are there newspapers, radio or television broadcasts, etc.?:
   There are some Rakhine language articles (poems or stories) in print using a Burmese script. There are also apparently Rakhine language television broadcasts in Myanmar.

b) Is this language officially recognized by any level of government? Is it used in any levels of formal education as a language of instruction (for other subjects)? Is it taught in schools?:
   Its existence is recognized by the Bangladesh government.

c) Comment on factors of ethnolinguistic identity and informal domains of use:
   The Rakhine people speak Rakhine in their homes and villages and in other situations in which those who are present understand Rakhine.
