Comments received for
ISO 639-3 Change Request
2007-203

Outcome: Rejected
Effective date: 18 February 2008
Registration Authority decision on Change Request no. 2007-203: reject requested creation of new identifier for Dali’

The ISO 639-3 Registration Authority has determined that the request for this new code element is premature. The requester states: “How closely it is related to the other Lower Baram languages is not clear yet; it will be one of the outcomes of Juergen Burkhardt's research.” This statement leads to the conclusion for the time being that the outcome of this research should be known before a decision is rendered regarding this language variety.

This request may be reintroduced at such future time as research outcomes show that it should in fact be treated as a distinct language and not as a variety of a larger language group.