Comments received for
ISO 639-3 Change Request
2011-180

Outcome: Rejected
Effective date: February 3, 2011
Registration Authority decision on Change Request no. 2011-180: to create a new code element [aeg] “Alemmanic”: Rejected

The request to create a distinct code [aeg] for “Alemmanic” is rejected. As defined by the standard, a macrolanguage code element is one that represents "multiple, closely-related individual languages that are deemed in some usage contexts to be a single language". The request fails to present evidence that this group of individual languages proposed as members of the macrolanguage are treated as a single language in some usage contexts. Because of this lack, the request to create a code for Alemmanic [aeg] is rejected.