PLEASE NOTE: This completed form will become part of the public record of this change request and the history of the ISO 639-3 code set. Use Shift-Enter to insert a new line in a form field (where allowed).

1. NAMES and IDENTIFICATION
   a) Preferred name of language for code element denotation:
      Jixu Xiang Chinese, Chenxu Xiang Chinese

   b) Autonym (self-name) for this language:

   c) Common alternate names and spellings of language, and any established abbreviations:
      Mandarin: 吉漵 Jíxù and 辰溆 Chénxù. These are not strictly synonyms.

   d) Reason for preferred name:
      The name in the Atlas is ‘Jixu’, so that may be the better primary label. But the terms are not synonyms: ‘Chenxu’ is what Bao & Chen (2005) named the remainder after they reclassified some dialects as SW Mandarin.

   e) Name and approximate population of ethnic group or community who use this language (complete individual language currently in use):
      Han Chinese. ca. 4 million

   f) Preferred three letter identifier, if available:
      Your suggestion will be taken into account, but the Registration Authority will determine the identifier to be proposed. The identifiers is not intended to be an abbreviation for a name of the language, but to serve as a device to identify a given language uniquely. With thousands of languages, many sets of which have similar names, it is not possible to provide identifiers that resemble a language name in every case.

2. TEMPORAL DESCRIPTION and LOCATION
   a) Is this a ☒ Living language
      ☐ Nearly extinct/secondary use only (includes languages in revival)
      ☐ Recently extinct language
Historical language
Ancient language
Artificially constructed language
Macrolanguage

For individual languages, also complete:

b) Countries where used:
   China, Hunan province

c) Region within each country: towns, districts, states or provinces where used. Include GPS coordinates of the approximate center of the language, if possible:
middle reaches of the Yuan River in western Hunan, including northern Huaihua and southern Xiangxi prefectures.

3. MODALITY AND LINGUISTIC AFFILIATION
   a) This language is: ☑ Signed          ☐ Spoken          ☐ Attested only in writings
   b) Language family, if classified; origin, if artificially constructed:
       Sino-Tibetan, Sinitic, Xiang
   c) Closest language linguistically. For a Macrolanguage, list the individual languages (adopted and/or proposed) to be included in its group. For signed language, note influence from other signed or spoken languages:
       classified as ‘New Xiang’ back when a simple dichotomy was followed, but the innovations in Jixu are perhaps a separate development. Some varieties have been included in SW Mandarin.

4. LANGUAGE DEVELOPMENT AND USE
   a) What written literature, inscriptions or recordings exist in this language? Are there newspapers, radio or television broadcasts, etc.?:

   b) Is this language officially recognized by any level of government? Is it used in any levels of formal education as a language of instruction (for other subjects)? Is it taught in schools?:

   c) Comment on factors of ethnolinguistic identity and informal domains of use:
SOURCES OF INFORMATION

You do not need to repeat sources previously identified in the form, “Request for Change to ISO 639-3 Language Code”

a) First-hand knowledge. Describe:

b) Knowledge through personal communication. Describe:

c) Knowledge from published sources. Include known dictionaries, grammars, etc. (please give complete bibliographical references):
